Early repayment charge	Variable Rate mortgage 1% on the prepaid amount if repaid before the 1 st anniversary of loan drawdown date
	Fixed Rate Mortgage <ul style="list-style-type: none"> You'll have an annual overpayment allowance equivalent to 10% of the outstanding balance of your mortgage. This is calculated annually on the date your fixed-rate period started. You can make additional payments during the fixed-rate period without incurring an early repayment charge (ERC). Anything over the 10% will incur an ERC, which you may have to pay if you repay the whole or part of your mortgage early. This includes if you move to a different NBK mortgage rate, or move to a different lender during your fixed period. In the first year of your fixed rate period, the ERC is calculated as 2% of the amount repaid early, above any annual overpayment allowance. In the second year, the ERC is calculated as 1% of the amount repaid early, above any annual overpayment allowance.

Risk Warnings

- 1. Interest Rate Risk: Please note that the interest rate on a mortgage loan with NBK may change over time. If you are on a variable rate mortgage, your monthly payments may increase or decrease depending on Benchmark interest rates (Bank of England Rate). It is essential to consider your affordability in the event of interest rate fluctuations
- 2. Credit Risk: All mortgage loans are subject to credit approval, and ability to repay the loan will be assessed based on various factors, including a person's income, employment history, credit score, and financial obligations. Failure to meet mortgage repayment obligations may result in adverse consequences, including repossession of your property.
- 3. Property Valuation Risk: The value of a property may fluctuate over time due to market conditions and other factors. In the event that the value of a property decreases, it may impact your ability to refinance or sell the property in the future.
- 4. Insurance Risk: It is strongly recommended to obtain appropriate insurance coverage for your property, including buildings insurance, to protect against unforeseen events such as fire, theft, or other damage. Failure to maintain adequate insurance coverage may result in financial loss.
- 5. Early Repayment Charges: If you decide to repay your mortgage loan before the agreed-upon term or make significant overpayments, early repayment charges may apply. It is important to review the terms and conditions of your mortgage agreement to understand these charges fully.
